25-30 OCTOBER 2016

CONSCIOUS RELATING 1

TALIB & SHUBHAA
FISHER

Come and join us on this journey towards building a foundation for awareness and intimacy.

During this process we explore how to use our natural intelligence and healing capacities to build a foundation for awareness and intimacy to nourish our relationships. Together we create a safe and loving container to experiment individually and with group interaction, opening up to our natural joy, aliveness and sensitivity to flow.

This workshop is an opportunity for individuals and couples who long to experience a loving and solid foundation in their relationship with themselves and those they love the most.

During this workshop we will learn & explore:

- Restoring the connection with our relaxed confident tenderness with ourselves and others.
 - Identifying our protections (behaviors) which prevent us from communicating with effectiveness.
 - Discovering the power of vulnerability and the capacity to contain and embrace our feelings.
 - Tools to heal our wounds of shame, shock & abandonment.
 - Understanding our co-dependency dynamics.
 - Conflict resolution - learning to repair trust and safety in our relationships.
 - Accessing resources and the intelligence of our physical body to restore well being through active meditations, emotional release, bio energetics and trauma healing exercises.

“To live in sincere, loving, trusting and intimate relationships, takes understanding, courage and awareness... its an on going path. Relationships have the potential to give us a wake up call to our very center of being. We were not born with the skills to sustain mature love, they need to be learned and integrated in our daily lives.”
